

NOVEMBER 2023 • MICHELIN-GREEN-STAR MASTERPIECES • FOOD CAPITAL BILBAO • KUALA LUMPUR CITY GUIDE • ROCK STAR CHEF JORIS BIJDENDIJK • YOUR FREE COPY TO TAKE HOME

HOLLAND HERALD

Welcome to the Joy of Food issue

KLM

TO wish for

Towels

DIFFERENT STROKES FOR DIFFERENT FOLKS

Dutch designer Karel Martens and Amsterdam-based bed and bath textile brand SUITE702 share a love of bright colours. So, for their first collaborative collection, they designed a series of bath, guest and beach towels with differing coloured stripes on them. The collection is GOTS-certified, which means the products' fibres are grown according to strict ecological and toxicological guidelines.

From €27.50; suite702.com

Fashion

COOL COATED

For its 50th anniversary, Italian sportswear brand C.P. Company invited a group of creatives from diverse cultural backgrounds to model its new autumn/winter collection. One of them is London-based Milo Cuki (pictured here), who's wearing the Co-Ted Goggle Down Jacket, equipped with a water- and dye-resistant internal coating, which creates a great barrier against rain and wind. With an adjustable goggle hood and hem, it's perfect for those cold and wet winter days.

€972; cpcompany.com

Many botanical oils are naturally rich in antioxidants

Interior design

LIKE A FLOWER

DUTCH LIFESTYLE BRAND MOOOI RECENTLY ADDED A NEW DINING CHAIR TO ITS COLLECTION

The Hana Chair by Italian designer Simone Bonanni is inspired by the unfurling of a flower, with organic shapes, curved lines and a petal-like backrest. Thanks to its customisable shell, various bases and an extensive range of upholstery options, the Hana Chair can be configured to match the user's personal taste and space.

moooi.com

Beauty

Natural skincare

When Canadian Fran Miller couldn't find the right products for her sensitive skin, she started experimenting with natural formulas at home. Her brand F. Miller consists of clinically proven, plant-based oils, and her Necessity Kit contains mini-versions of the daily essentials.

€128; fmillerskincare.com